

Men can't lead:

It is not their fault.

They did not evolve to lead.

Look at them!

leading through empire for 6,000 years
and

They are throwing missiles at each other.

And have organized society
and culture to produce said missiles.

If this is not a failure of leadership----

Male attempted leadership squeezes
the life from the earth

diminishing life supporting systems so some can live opulently.

If we were in an AA meeting and our culture was sitting in a chair, good luck with that—they would hear –

“that is some stinking thinking, sanctions to starve, and how come you're letting that thinking rent space in your head.

This one is headed for relapse. “

Male leadership thus far – 6,000 years' worth –
ends creating an addictive process,

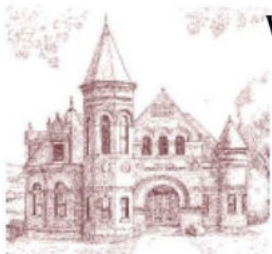

structuring society maintaining an economic system dependent on diminishing the life systems of the planet.

And we humans are part of the life systems of the planet.

You Are Fired!
