

Silence

You simply arrive unannounced, you take over the moment.

I wish to domain my mind and recover my breath.

It is silence that torments me.

No matter how close I am or how far away I feel.

I long for the strength to stand up to you.

Why do you come to stir my mind?.

You will no longer be greater than my desire, so that you are no longer present in my mind.

Time

Please have mercy on me.

Time do not let me, leave unresolved anger behind.

Time do not let me look back, just let me look back to remember those I loved and those who loved me.

Time take care of me, let me know every day where I come from.

Time let me know that it is not you that destroys the human being, it is the vanity of the world.

Today, I implore you for wisdom to live free, because what I have no more to spare is... time.

PACO MENDOZA
Worker at Newmont Farm
Bradford, VT

Sponsored by
BRADFORD PUBLIC LIBRARY
21 South Main St.
Bradford, VT
802-222-4536
bradfordvtlibrary.org