~ A Baby ~

... A baby is for love and joy
As they get older, we find ourselves wishing that they were young again
So do not get upset.

And enjoy the younger years while you can.
For the time of infant days go by fast
And we must enjoy it all before it is lost
For each baby is a separate person
No matter how many you have,
You will always see the difference in each.
Help them to learn right from wrong Teach them to love, laugh and play with friends

Life is what you make of it
Love is how you want it to be Children learn from what they see and hear.
A baby is someone to hold and cherish while we can...

Life is too short and sweet to spend it worrying about the little mistakes.
